1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 1, 2, 5-7, 10, and 13, 16-27 are again rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the combined teaching of Germany 3,619,525 and applicants' admitted prior art as set forth in pages 1-2 of the specification.

Germany '525 shows to use a low pressure casting process for casting motor vehicle wheel. The process includes application of vibration to the casting mold during the solidification process of the molten metal. In short Germany '525 substantially shows the invention as claimed except that it does not show the structure of the casting mold. The admitted prior art shows that it is conventional to gravity cast or pressure cast a vehicle wheel with multi-segment mold to facilitate the casting removal step after the casting solidified. In short, the admitted prior art substantially shows the invention as claimed except that it does not show to use a vibrator. In view of the prior art teachings as a whole, it would have been obvious to use the conventional multi-segment mold in the process of Germany '525 to facilitate the casting removal. It would also have been obvious to vibrate the mold of the admitted prior art to refine the grain in view of Germany '525. Although Germany '535 did not disclose the type and location of the vibrator, it would have been obvious to those of ordinary skill to use an appropriate type of the vibrator to place the same at an appropriate location of the mold in the process of Germany. Further, it would also have been obvious to obtain the optimal timing of vibration through routine experimentation.

4. Applicant's arguments filed May 16, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants' main argument is in that the German '525 reference to Bendig is directed toward low pressure casting machines and does not show or suggest gravity casting of wheels. They concluded that there is no motivation to apply the vibration of a low pressure casting machine to a gravity casting apparatus. However, in col. 3, lines 17-28 of German '525 it discloses that during the solidification stage, the mold is vibrated, preferably at between 15,000 and 25,000 Hz such that to obtain a cast product of dense structure. Thus, it would have been obvious to vibrate the conventional gravity casting mold to obtain a dense cast structure in view of the advantage.

5. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP§706.07(b).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
